

NSW REGIONAL CANCER RESEARCH NETWORK

Funded by the Cancer Institute NSW through a Translational Cancer Research Capacity Building Grant. Established through NSW Regional Health Partners.

Who we are

The NSW Regional Cancer Research Network (NSWRCRN) brings together health and medical professionals, researchers, cancer services and the people affected by cancer to build capacity and capability in translational cancer research across the geographical areas covered by:

- Central Coast
- Hunter New England
- Mid-North Coast
- Northern NSW

What we do

Lead collaboration and knowledge exchange between researchers, medical professionals, regional cancer services, consumers and the community

Leverage and strengthen existing research capacity and opportunities for research engagement in regional NSW

Contribute to scientific and clinical evidence informed by regional perspectives

Support locally informed research and its translation in regional cancer care and clinical practice

Provide regional leadership in state and national cancer research and health policy

How we are doing it

Virtual Collaboration Platform

Enhance engagement & knowledge exchange

1

Research Capacity & Culture Survey

Establish & leverage local research capability & priorities

2

Research Initiatives & Funding

Increase research led by local clinicians & health care workers

3

Collaborative Research Initiative

Locally informed to improve outcomes for cancer patients in regional communities

4

Support Translational Clinical Research

Assist locally informed research to address areas of need in regional cancer care

5

The NSWRCRN Community

- Central Coast LHD
- Hunter New England LHD
- Mid-North Coast LHD
- Northern NSW LHD
- University of Newcastle
- Hunter Medical Research Institute
- Calvary Mater Newcastle
- Hunter New England and Central Coast Primary Health Network
- Charles Sturt University
- University of New England

Join our Network

If you are located within the NSWRCRN Community and have an interest in guiding research designed to improve equity of cancer outcomes in regional NSW then you are welcome to become a member of the NSW Regional Cancer Research Network. Membership is free and open to researchers, health and medical professionals, people affected by cancer (including current or past patients, family members and carers), staff members of cancer support services, government or policy professionals, members of peak bodies, and other end-users.

<https://nswregionalcrcn.com.au>